A class of Verden Ligevægt & Value Akkumulerende KL. The fund is managed by Syd Fund Management A/S

Objectives and Investment Policy

The objective of this investment (also referred to as class/investment compartment) is to obtain a return which equals or outperforms the return of the class standard of reference (also referred to as benchmark) within stipulated risk limits.

The class invests globally in shares. Investments are diversified across different countries and industries. The fund's largest investments are in USA and Europe. The class pursues an equal weight value strategy. The concept of equal weight is that all equity investments in the class represent roughly the same share. If the class has invested in 200 shares, each share will constitute around 0,5 % of the class. When we invest according to a value strategy we select companies which are inexpensively priced based on a number of financial ratios relative to the share price of the companies.

The class invests in foreign shares and these investments involve a foreign exchange risk. The class may apply different types of financial agreements (derivatives etc) to mitigate the risk.

Risk and Reward Profile

The risk scale shows the risk of your investments. Risk category 1 is not a risk-free investment. The class position on the risk scale is determined by fluctuations in the return of the class and/or representative data over the past five years. The fund's position on the risk scale is not permanent and may shift over time.

You can assess your return by comparing with developments in the fund's benchmark (standard of reference), MSCI All Country incl. Net Dividend unhedged to EUR.

Class investors' investments are subject to ongoing management and risk diversification. In the attempt to fulfil the objective of the class, the class investments will typically deviate from benchmark as regards bond types and country allocation. As a result your return may be higher as well as lower than developments in the benchmark of the class.

The class accumulates return and does not distribute dividends. The return derives from changes in the price of the class units.

Recommendation: This class may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within three years.

Under normal circumstances you can sell your units at the current price on days when banks are open.

The categorisation is calculated on the basis of historical data, which is not a reliable indication of the fund's future risk profile. The risk scale is solely a mathematical calculation and does not take into account unforeseen events such as political intervention, financial crises and currency fluctuations, all of which may result in sudden securities losses.

The class invests in bonds, which involves a risk that a bond issuer may be unable to honour its payment obligations. The return of the class will be affected by for instance changes in interest rates, exchange rates, economic developments as well as changes in the financial circumstances of the bond issuer, including the rating of the issuer.

The class assumes currency risks that may affect return positively or negatively.
